Work-Based Learning Standard Five: Additional Guidelines

STANDARD FIVE: Work-Based Learning (WBL) experiences are part of a career development progression that includes resources and opportunities for career awareness, exploration, preparation, and training.

WORK-BASED LEARNING COORDINATOR RESPONSIBILITIES

- Align the school’s transferable skills with WBL experiences.
- Assess student demonstration of transferable skills, when applicable.
- Provide career awareness learning opportunities for students (this learning can also be delivered by a content area educator).
- Co-design both traditional and nontraditional career exploration opportunities with students.
- Assess students’ work readiness knowledge, attitudes, and skills before students engage in career preparation and career training WBL experiences.
- Align opportunities and instruction to state-identified career pathways and current labor market information.
- Co-develop and monitor career preparation experiences for students interested in more intensive WBL experiences.
- Provide access to career training opportunities for students prepared to engage in high intensity WBL experiences.
- Research current economic workforce trends to support student WBL experiences.
- Identify/design assessment tools to measure student progress towards transferable skills attainment.
